

UX/UI Software Designer (Web and Mobile)

Do you believe user experience is just as important as the tech under the hood? Come create impactful applications with us.

WHAT WE'RE LOOKING FOR

Aquassist is building a web and mobile platform that's transforming operations management in the water treatment industry. We're looking for a UX/UI designer with creativity, practical thinking, and a strong understanding of users.

The role: design modern, simple, and intuitive interfaces that turn complex tasks into clear, efficient experiences. If you enjoy crafting smooth user journeys, thinking through every detail, and contributing to a fast-evolving product—we'd love to talk to you

YOUR MISSION, SHOULD YOU CHOOSE TO ACCEPT IT

- Design logical and effective user flows for our web and mobile apps
- Create wireframes, mockups, and interactive prototypes (mainly using Figma)
- Participate in user testing and iterate based on real feedback
- Work closely with the product team and developers to bring ideas to life
- Help evolve our design system and ensure visual consistency across the product
- Provide clear UX/UI direction through all development phases, from concept to launch

YOUR PROFILE

- Proficient with UX/UI design tools (Figma, Adobe XD, Sketch, or equivalent)
- Able to think in terms of experience, not just visuals
- Solid grasp of usability, accessibility, and responsive design principles
- Independent, organized, and collaborative
- Keen to work in an agile, fast-paced, product-focused environment

UX/UI Software Designer (Web and Mobile)

BONUS POINT FOR

- Experience in a SaaS or startup environment
- Product sensitivity and an understanding of business goals
- Confidence presenting your work and receiving feedback
- Interest in user testing and behavioral analytics
- Curiosity for continuous improvement, design trends, and emerging tools

WHAT WE OFFER

- A product that creates real environmental and industrial impact
- An ambitious yet grounded team
- True ownership: your ideas matter, and you see results fast
- A flexible, ever-evolving environment with room to grow
- Technical challenges—within a healthy, collaborative culture

TO APPLY, EMAIL US AT RH@AQUASSIST.COM.